1. Observation installations which the Army Fortress Command began constructing on 20 April were completed on 25 July 1951. New type Soviet-made observation instruments have been mounted at Yunting'an (雲頂山) and long-range guns have been employed at Kuangjiaht'ai (觀日台). These guns have sufficient range to reach Little Chimen.
2. The Ocean Patrol Battalion of the Army Naval Patrol Bureau has recently added two gunboats to its fleet, bringing the total to nine. It also recently commandeered 22 civilian sailboats equipped with auxiliary motors. These vessels are used to patrol coastal waters during the day and night.
3. Twenty thousand pieces of fir wood shipped from Foochow and over ten thousand pieces of bamboo shipped from Yungch'un (118-13, 25-16) and Manchung (117-31, 24-35) are now stored at Fulongshan (118-04, 24-27) and at the Sunghou (118-02, 24-28) Pier opposite Amoy.
4. Except for transfers of small troop units there has been no change during the past month in the number of Chinese Communists stationed at Amoy.
